

XM provides an excellent service, especially to drivers who spend a lot of hours on the road. It keeps me alert, especially in areas where no traditional radio signals come in well or at all. The traffic and weather stations help me avoid treacherous situations on the road. I think that we have the right to these services through the first amendment. We even pay for them! Limiting these services seems to be to be a monopolization effort.